PROCESS MAP FOR WRITING A NEW SCHEME OF WORK FOR HISTORY

Update our scheme of work to meet the requirements of the new national curriculum

Do we want to review what our learners want and need to make the best use of the new national curriculum?

No

Revisit our vision and core values to ensure they can inform the how, why and what of our teaching and learning of history.

Do the new national curriculum aims and the aims for history fit with our whole school aims?

No

Agree as a school how we will fit the new national curriculum into our whole curriculum.

Yes

Review the current scheme of work using the programme of study Aims and Content for our key stages.

Yes

Answer these:

What are we trying to achieve for our learners?

How can we best organise learning?

How will we know when we have achieved our aims?

Will we keep most of the content of our current scheme of work because it meets our children's wants and needs?

Yes

No

Design a new scheme of work that meets our aims, values, the history aims and content and ensures progression.

Will we need to plan professional development sessions for staff?

Yes

Identify with staff which aims and content in the programme of study will need sessions to build their subject knowledge, understanding and new teaching strategies

No

Identify resources that will be needed by staff and children for our new historical enquiries and plan a budget.

Historical Association
The voice for history